Mama MadB's Majikal Aussie Dukkah

Mama MadB's Majikal Aussie Dukkah
 MadB is a Djabugandji and Kaurareg person and famous Canberra drag queen who began their career in 2017 following public debate and protests in support of the Safe Schools education program. During a protest while dressed in drag someone called them 'Crystal Balls' - a name that MadB owned and performed under for two years before changing to their current name which was given to them by their kids. MadB is a very supportive queer elder and activist that works tirelessly towards protecting Indigenous queer and trans kids. Even before we formally launched Queer Food, MadB asked if we could make a dukkah for their wedding, including lemon myrtle and lemon aspen from their home in Far North Queensland. It has been an honour to create this product with MadB, and now we want to share it with everyone too!

Club 19 Coffee Shop Box
 Club 19 was one of Canberra's earliest gay social clubs, established in 1974. By 1980, it had an annually elected organising committee and was producing a weekly newsletter for the community. The venue provided an alternative space for gay people to meet in Canberra. It also staffed the bar the 9th National Homosexual Conference in Canberra in 1982, promoting a screening run by the ACT Gay Film Group. By 1984, the club strongly supported the AIDS movement and donated money to the cause. The group continued into the 1990s before it disassembled, and remains a powerful social presence in early Queer* Canberra. Queer Food celebrates this history with our very own queer take on the classic coffee shop brunch.

Club 19 Coffee Shop Morning or Afternoon Tea Box

Queer Night

Canberra's Queer* Night Life Box
 Canberra's Queer* night life transitioned from beats to pubs to private clubs and finally to nightclubs in 1993. Our Canberra night life box celebrates the history of the city's Queer* club venues and events and their role in providing Queer* friendly spaces.
 The Meridian Club was a private members club that ran from 1985 to 2004, first operating from Dr Peter Rowland's Lonsdale Street surgery. By 1992, it had 472 members, its own premise, a liquor licence and held dance events. Heaven was Canberra's first public Queer* nightclub, operating between 1993-2004. While it was open to everyone, it centred Queer* people and had ten commandments on consent painted on the wall on arrival. After Heaven closed, its owners opened Hush in 2008, a club that welcomed trans* and intersex people. In 2016, they also opened 16West which was orientated towards creating space for older Queer*. Today Cube operates as the main Queer* venue in the city.
 Other parties have operated alongside throughout this time, with an array of underground Queer* raves and events across Canberra. One of these events, FemmeDaddy, was run by Sala Gomez in 2020-23, centred the experience of BIPOC queer women and people of marginalised genders.
